FOOTBALL.

BENEFICIAL DRAWN.

In anticipation of a keenly contested game between the Hongkong Football Club and H. M. G. King Alfred a large crowd gathered on the Football Club's ground on Saturday afternoon. The ground was lined with spectators five and six deep—except at the eastern end, which is not at all popular as a coign of vantage owing to the inconvenience occasioned by the setting sun—while both stands, and particularly the northern one, were taxed to their utmost. It was an enthusiastic gathering: Naval men predominated and their white and blue suits were generally conspicuous. Sailors and soldiers were there in large numbers but they were greatly outnumbered by the sailors. As a consequence the King Alfred team had the greater number of barkeeters and cries of encouragement to the boys in blue—for the naval team sported bright blue jerseys with a white flag on the left breast—rang incessantly. The civilian team, in their unpretentious negligé shirts, did not lack supporters and it is safe to say that at the end of the game they had gained them further admirers. A great deal of interest was centred in the match and the Hongkong Club, despite the absence of Autto and Williams, were both penalised for tripping Turner and Tugwell had to run well out to punch the ball away. Play continued fast and in favour of the Club. Fleming and King Alfred shot the leather well away. Tugwell stopped shot from Eager and Turner the former having the opening made for him by David, who was now playing outside right, having changed places with Eager. Both Western and Turner failed to reap any advantage from a fine center by Eager, Haw and Carlisle closing in fast and clearing. Fleming was penalised for tripping Turner and Tugwell had to run well out to punch the ball away. Play continued fast and in favour of the Club. Fleming and King Alfred shot the leather well away.
